"What?" said Levi. "A doll ran up a tree? You are being funny. No doll can run up a tree."

The girls laughed. "It is funny," said Susan. "The doll ran up a tree. It jumped out of bed. It ran to the tree. Up, up, up it went."

"Yes, it did," said Rachel. "It is up in the tree now. Please come and help us. We want the doll to come down."

Peter said, "We will come with you. But we will not see a doll in a tree. You are just being funny."

"We are not being funny," said Rachel. "Come with us and you will see the doll in a tree."

Rachel and Susan ran to the tree. The boys ran to the tree, too.

"Look up, boys," said Susan. "Do you see that doll? Do you see that doll in the tree?"
